Instruments: piano Download Personal thoughts regarding seasonal music....Holiday albums, or Christmas music, however one chooses to refer to this seasonal genre is a strange piece of the musical spectrum. This music holds a very specific emotional, even familial, tie to the greater part of folks. The "old" songs seem to always hold sway over anything new that comes along. So, the old carols, chants, ancient-leaning instrumented, the Bing Crosby, Sinatra, Nat King Cole, Perry Como, Peggy Lee, etc., on and on recordings always trump newer efforts. Yet, it seems that every 8-10 years there is a new piece or song that strikes like a lightning-bolt and wakes us all up and grabs us by our heart, ears, and/or other pleasure-sensing organs, and we take this new piece into our collective "loved" seasonal music, sort of like binding a new chapter into a treasured old book of love. Silver Bells, Do You Hear What I Hear?, Christmas in Dixie, Little Drummer Boy, are examples of this. Occasionally, a real out-there entry takes hold also, like Feliz Navidad, or (lord help us all) Grandma Got Run Over by a Reindeer sidles in and takes a place amongst all the old treasures. Most, though, just get one season or less of airplay and then are lost to the great majority...they just cannot hold up to our favorites from years gone by. I attribute this mostly to the fact that the Holidays are so emotionally charged that the older always bring fond memories of loved ones now gone or still with us. The new has no connection to us like the old ones have. Review: I got a text from a cousin to go to the link she sent, taking me to youtube. What I was seeing and hearing literally sat me down with amazement. Great musicianship and talent will always get my undivided attention, but what I was not only witnessing that, but tremendous creativity, ingenuitive thinking, and an amazingly creative team effort, together to create and deliver up something so different, original, marvelous to see and listen to that I was nothing short of transfixed by it. This was what is the opening track on this album, a mind-boggling rendition of Angels We Have Heard on High. The ingenuity and creative talent to execute this amazingly complicated "arrangement" is breathtaking to watch. Ribbons of horsehair from a cello bow, pieces of paper, tapping with fingers and little hammers, etc., all need to be witnessed to appreciate what these 4 men are doing...hearing is wonderful, seeing it is mesmerizing. I will send you to witness this later here. The contents on the cd in this special cd/dvd set are: 1. Angels We Have Heard on High 2. O Come, O Come, Emmanuel 3. Good King Wenceslas 4. (25 Stars? -- You decide for yourself!) I have had this cd in my player now for two weeks, and so far, two or three times a day I give it another spin! What does this tell you? Either I am stupid and don't know "good" when I hear it, or this album is simply astounding, worthy of my time to keep listening to it. I think it is the latter, and I most heartily recommend it to you. And, with that, I send you here to witness for yourself! [...] * I cannot imagine anyone not totally loving this most special album from these exceptionally talented men. *amazon removed my link that I inserted here for you, so copy and paste the last line below in a youtube search to see and hear this amazing piece.
